

ON THE RIVER.

Another Steamboat Excursion to Our Want Advertising Patrons. A ticket secured by placing your wants in the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

SECURE YOUR TICKET

To the last excursion of the season given by the POST-DISPATCH to its Want Advertising Patrons, Tuesday Evening, August 23, '92.

VOL. 43. NO. 256.

TOOK POISON.

Judge J. C. Normile Ends His Own Life.

Tragic Climax of His Suit for Libel.

His BODY FOUND IN HIS ROOM ON WASHINGTON AVENUE.

A Number of Notes Written to Friends Apprising Them of His Act and Ascribing Certain Reasons for It—Preparations Which He Made for Death—Statements of Those Concerned—Arrangements for the Inquest

When the hearing in Judge James Chester Normile's libel suit against the Post-Dispatch was about to be adjourned yesterday afternoon, Judge Normile, plaintiff in the suit, whose deposition was being taken, aroused himself apparently from a slight reverie into which he had fallen during the controversy between the lawyers with which the hearing closed. "At what time?" he asked.

"Ten o'clock," answered his attorney, Chester H. Krum.

"Gentlemen, I ask you if you can make it 11 o'clock?"

"Certainly," said John D. Johnson, the attorney for the Post-Dispatch, and this understanding the hearing was adjourned.

At 11 o'clock this morning Commissioner Crane, Attorneys Johnson, Krum and Joseph Laure and several newspaper reporters and stenographers were awaiting Judge Normile in the Commissioner's office. Commissioner Crane was not well, and it was intended to have the Judge on the stand but a short while later he had passed, and every body became impatient.

"There is the Judge," one said to the other. Mr. Krum said that he had received since the last session a note from his client which seemed strange. It asked him to tell the Judge's nephew that the Judge had a lot in Eureka Springs, and added that the writer would explain later what he meant. Strange to say, nobody gave more than a passing thought to this. The Commissioner

Judge J. C. Normile, waited, chattering with the lawyers until 11:45. Then a reporter came into the room and said, "Judge Normile has killed himself in his house!" he said.

The waiting men jumped from their chairs with one exclamation of horror. The statement was repeated. The Commissioner and the lawyers looked at each other, and the attorneys, taking up their briefs, left the office.

ON THE WITNESS STAND.

Judge Normile probably knew when he asked for the adjournment to 11 o'clock to-day that he would not be present. The examination had been several orders to the witness stand, the witness stand all yesterday morning. He went to Eureka Springs last week upon the adjournment of his court and returned Monday to become the first witness in the case. Before he went to the Commissioner's office he spent an hour in the office of the Four Courts. Several of his friends called on him. He spoke of the suit and was greatly troubled about its outcome. He was told that the Post-Dispatch had obtained complete abstracts of the records of the Criminal Court since he had been on the stand. The lawyers pertaining to his administration were being gone into that he had thought were forgotten. He appeared greatly perturbed, and this disturbance of mind was increased when his testimony began in the Commissioner's office. Chester H. Krum, his attorney, made a legal fight to prevent Commissioner Crane from allowing John D. Johnson, the counsel of the Post-Dispatch, to question the Judge on his past life, but the Commissioner said this was a proper line of investigation, and admitted the questions. At the outset the Judge saw his past was to be laid open like a book. "Where were you born?" asked the attorney.

Judge Normile had always indirectly or otherwise represented that he was a native of Ireland. In the manuscript of the "Reavis' History," is silent on the subject of his birthplace. In the manuscript of Secretary of State A. J. Lessor, which contains short sketches of prominent Missourians written by themselves, Judge Normile is described as having been born in Louisiana. The Judge knew that there were many who would stand to testify that they had received the impression from him that he had been born in this country, and had an air in this his mind when he answered: "I was actually born in Ireland."

Questions as to his naturalization followed. He did not answer, although he professed in an aside to his attorney, his willingness to do so. His attorney objected, and the reason then given was that the Judge had not answered that he was a citizen. Doubtless, he saw the position in which this was to be placed, and he was greatly troubled as the questioning continued. He was pressed upon his knowledge of the law, and fell back on his attorney's help. The head of the adjournment to give Commissioner Crane time to prepare a written answer to the questions touching his past, and the witness stand to testify as to his conduct on the bench. He seemed to him to be only one out of order, and that too!

MRS. CRANE'S PREPARATION.

Judge Normile was not an early riser. He generally got up about 6 o'clock. This morning he was up at 7:30, and went to his house where he lived, No. 422 Washington avenue, probably to take the poison with which he took his life. He was gone nearly two hours. Coming back at 9:30 o'clock, he met Mrs. Kate Crane, his landlady. He had two packages, one for his attorney, one another containing some papers for Robert Noonan, the real estate man, who managed the office of the Post-Dispatch. He called me to call him at 11 o'clock. He was not up by that time, he passed into his room. At 11 o'clock Mrs. Crane did not hear him moving about. She went up stairs and knocked at the door. There was no response. She pushed open the door on a staircase, and saw the Judge lying on the bed, his feet in a bathing robe, the feet bare. She was on the point of rapping again, when she saw a glint of glass and revolver in the room, and disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants.

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom spoke. He had been rooming at my house for over seven years, and I never questioned him about his past. He never told me that he was dead. He was a man of few words, and I disturbed nothing in the room, wanting to keep everything intact until the coroner arrived with his attendants."

"Did Judge Normile say anything that would lead you to believe that he intended ending his life?"

"No, he was a man who seldom

GATEWAY TO INDIA.

Revolt of the Amur's Subjects Growing in Strength.

RUSSIA INTRIGUING TO ADVANCE HER SOUTHERN FRONTIER.

Financial Crisis Threatened in India—Causes of Cholera in Paris—An American Schooner Seized for Poaching—Smallpox Disappears in British Columbia.

SIML, Aug. 9.—The revolt of the Hazara tribes in Afghanistan becomes more serious daily and many of the great tribes have now combined their forces against the Amur, who is collecting all his resources to put down the rebellion. In addition to 20,000 regular troops and an equal force of irregulars, the Amur is trying to raise further levies by offering to the local tribesmen promises of great reward if they will assist him to combat the revolting Hazaras. Among other things the Amur holds out the prospect that in the event of the subjugation of the rebels the country will be divided between the tribesmen who assist him. These promises and the prospects of getting possession of Hazara have induced many of the tribesmen to join the standard of the Amur.

It is reported here that the Amur is anxious to meet Gen. Sir Frederick Roberts, who, with a large detachment of British troops, has been dispatched by the Indian Government to meet the Amur at Jellalabad. This mission is accompanied by a political agent and its main object is to arrange plans with the Amur against internal feuds and against the advance of Russia in Afghanistan, which is the road to India. It is also reported that the view of the Amur and Gen. Roberts is to publish generally throughout Afghanistan that the Viceroy of India has sent a large force of British troops to his assistance.

It is not a novel thing for the Hazaras to revolt against the Afghan ruler, for they have done so before, and although they have paid tribute to the Chiefs of Afghanistan, have never done so until compelled by force of arms. Their strongholds are in Northern Afghanistan.

The special interest which England has in the present uprising of the Hazaras and other mountain tribes of the Hindu Kush region, is based on the fact that it has been incited by Russian agents.

The object of Russia is well understood here. She is trying to force an advancement of her boundary line, established in 1873. The line follows the Oxus, flows one thousand miles to the head of the Oxus. It left Badakshan, including the northeastern angle of Shiva, within the Afghan territories or dependencies. It also ran north to Sughan and the whole of the Pamir region now in dispute. The territorial claims to this region were left in abeyance, but the Russian region itself was supposed to form an undivided neutral ground between the Territories of Russia on the north, Afghanistan on the south and Chinese Turkestan on the east.

The eastern portion, in a loose way, was given to England.

When China put down the Mahomedan rising some fourteen years ago, and thereby regained her ascendancy in Eastern Turkestan, she reinforced her claims to the eastern border of the Altichur Pamir, within the neutral zone. The central claim of Russia ignore the claims of China, and the actual facts of Chinese suzerainty over this tract.

China and Afghanistan are the two immediate sufferers by the present Russian movement, and it is in connection with the latter country that the obligations and engagements of Great Britain may at last bring her into open conflict with Russia on the Indian frontiers. The Russians, to all intents and purposes, are trying to substitute a southern headwater of the Oxus for the more northern one agreed upon in a secret despatch of 1873 to include an immense tract of territory intervening between the two rivers. To this they have apparently added a further encroachment of Afghanistan by a drawing of geographical lines across Badakshan and claiming the territories which lie north of it up the line of the Oxus, agreed upon in 1873.

It is not apparent how England, not to mention China, can permit of the wholesale annexation of territory without a very strong protest.

CHOLERA FORCED TO WITHDRAW.

PARIS, Aug. 9.—Dr. Brouardel has compiled an elaborate report on the so-called cholera epidemic of Paris and its suburbs. The report proves the outbreak due entirely to drinking water from the river Seine. Districts served from other rivers or from springs, or where the water is boiled, entirely escaped, although often within a few yards of an infected place. The disease occurred in districts supplied with water from the most polluted portion of the Seine. No single case could be traced to imported cholera or had the characteristics of true Asiatic cholera.

CHOLERA INVESTIGATED.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 9.—The cruiser Curlew has been sent to sea under sealed orders, undoubtedly to watch American fishermen in the Bay of Fundy, in which port it is reported that the principal fishing fleet is the only cruiser in the coast.

China and Afghanistan are the two immediate sufferers by the present Russian movement, and it is in connection with the latter country that the obligations and engagements of Great Britain may at last bring her into open conflict with Russia on the Indian frontiers. The Russians, to all intents and purposes, are trying to substitute a southern headwater of the Oxus for the more northern one agreed upon in a secret despatch of 1873 to include an immense tract of territory intervening between the two rivers. To this they have apparently added a further encroachment of Afghanistan by a drawing of geographical lines across Badakshan and claiming the territories which lie north of it up the line of the Oxus, agreed upon in 1873.

It is not apparent how England, not to mention China, can permit of the wholesale annexation of territory without a very strong protest.

CHOLERA FORCED TO WITHDRAW.

PARIS, Aug. 9.—Dr. Brouardel has compiled an elaborate report on the so-called cholera epidemic of Paris and its suburbs. The report proves the outbreak due entirely to drinking water from the river Seine. Districts served from other rivers or from springs, or where the water is boiled, entirely escaped, although often within a few yards of an infected place. The disease occurred in districts supplied with water from the most polluted portion of the Seine. No single case could be traced to imported cholera or had the characteristics of true Asiatic cholera.

CHOLERA INVESTIGATED.

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—An earthquake was felt yesterday in Southwest Germany in the neighborhood of Coblenz. The direction of the earthquake was from the southwest, the southeast and was felt most severely in Coblenz, Ems and Weisbaden. The shock lasted ten seconds. Buildings were rocked and glasses and other articles in some instances fell and were broken. People were frightened and many ran out of their houses to the streets. No fatalities were reported.

"Now," added Mr. Gladstone, "we find the decision of the country challenged by the Government; and this House has got to discuss it does not know what." (Conservative and Liberal Unionists cheer.) Mr. Gladstone said that there was just cause of complaint against the Government for having embarked the House on an utterly barren and anomalous debate. Hitherto the Queen's speech had always admitted that the result of a general election was binding and conclusive.

"Now," added Mr. Gladstone, "we find the decision of the country challenged by the Government; and this House has got to discuss it does not know what." (Conservative and Liberal Unionists cheer.) Mr. Gladstone said that there was just cause of complaint against the Government for having embarked the House on an utterly barren and anomalous debate. Hitherto the Queen's speech had always admitted that the result of a general election was binding and conclusive.

Mr. Gladstone denied that the Government had succeeded in pacifying Russia. The land before 1873 he said was doubtless of benefit, but the Government's Irish rule on the whole had been a hateful failure. The Irish had to be ruled by force, and even then a firm administration of the law, but they did believe that the law ought to harmonize with the principles of the people.

Therefore, said Mr. Gladstone, he trusted that the coercive act would not remain unanswered, and that the people would be Mr. Gladstone's Intimate. That a November session was impossible, but he assured his followers that home rule for Ireland still had the first place on the programme.

Pledges to release the prisoners held on charges of having been instigated by the New Zealand ministers. He trusted that evicted peasants would be reinstated in the autumn. The land before 1873 he said was doubtless of benefit, but the Government's Irish rule on the whole had been a hateful failure. The Irish had to be ruled by force, and even then a firm administration of the law, but they did believe that the law ought to harmonize with the principles of the people.

Therefore, said Mr. Gladstone, he trusted that the coercive act would not remain unanswered, and that the people would be Mr. Gladstone's Intimate. That a November session was impossible, but he assured his followers that home rule for Ireland still had the first place on the programme.

Pledges to release the prisoners held on charges of having been instigated by the New Zealand ministers. He trusted that evicted

peasants would be reinstated in the autumn. The land before 1873 he said was doubtless of benefit, but the Government's Irish rule on the whole had been a hateful failure. The Irish had to be ruled by force, and even then a firm administration of the law, but they did believe that the law ought to harmonize with the principles of the people.

Therefore, said Mr. Gladstone, he trusted that the coercive act would not remain unanswered, and that the people would be Mr. Gladstone's Intimate. That a November session was impossible, but he assured his followers that home rule for Ireland still had the first place on the programme.

Pledges to release the prisoners held on charges of having been instigated by the New Zealand ministers. He trusted that evicted peasants would be reinstated in the autumn. The land before 1873 he said was doubtless of benefit, but the Government's Irish rule on the whole had been a hateful failure. The Irish had to be ruled by force, and even then a firm administration of the law, but they did believe that the law ought to harmonize with the principles of the people.

Therefore, said Mr. Gladstone, he trusted that the coercive act would not remain unanswered, and that the people would be Mr. Gladstone's Intimate. That a November session was impossible, but he assured his followers that home rule for Ireland still had the first place on the programme.

Pledges to release the prisoners held on charges of having been instigated by the New Zealand ministers. He trusted that evicted peasants would be reinstated in the autumn. The land before 1873 he said was doubtless of benefit, but the Government's Irish rule on the whole had been a hateful failure. The Irish had to be ruled by force, and even then a firm administration of the law, but they did believe that the law ought to harmonize with the principles of the people.

Therefore, said Mr. Gladstone, he trusted that the coercive act would not remain unanswered, and that the people would be Mr. Gladstone's Intimate. That a November session was impossible, but he assured his followers that home rule for Ireland still had the first place on the programme.

Pledges to release the prisoners held on charges of having been instigated by the New Zealand ministers. He trusted that evicted peasants would be reinstated in the autumn. The land before 1873 he said was doubtless of benefit, but the Government's Irish rule on the whole had been a hateful failure. The Irish had to be ruled by force, and even then a firm administration of the law, but they did believe that the law ought to harmonize with the principles of the people.

Therefore, said Mr. Gladstone, he trusted that the coercive act would not remain unanswered, and that the people would be Mr. Gladstone's Intimate. That a November session was impossible, but he assured his followers that home rule for Ireland still had the first place on the programme.

Pledges to release the prisoners held on charges of having been instigated by the New Zealand ministers. He trusted that evicted peasants would be reinstated in the autumn. The land before 1873 he said was doubtless of benefit, but the Government's Irish rule on the whole had been a hateful failure. The Irish had to be ruled by force, and even then a firm administration of the law, but they did believe that the law ought to harmonize with the principles of the people.

Therefore, said Mr. Gladstone, he trusted that the coercive act would not remain unanswered, and that the people would be Mr. Gladstone's Intimate. That a November session was impossible, but he assured his followers that home rule for Ireland still had the first place on the programme.

Pledges to release the prisoners held on charges of having been instigated by the New Zealand ministers. He trusted that evicted peasants would be reinstated in the autumn. The land before 1873 he said was doubtless of benefit, but the Government's Irish rule on the whole had been a hateful failure. The Irish had to be ruled by force, and even then a firm administration of the law, but they did believe that the law ought to harmonize with the principles of the people.

Therefore, said Mr. Gladstone, he trusted that the coercive act would not remain unanswered, and that the people would be Mr. Gladstone's Intimate. That a November session was impossible, but he assured his followers that home rule for Ireland still had the first place on the programme.

Pledges to release the prisoners held on charges of having been instigated by the New Zealand ministers. He trusted that evicted peasants would be reinstated in the autumn. The land before 1873 he said was doubtless of benefit, but the Government's Irish rule on the whole had been a hateful failure. The Irish had to be ruled by force, and even then a firm administration of the law, but they did believe that the law ought to harmonize with the principles of the people.

Therefore, said Mr. Gladstone, he trusted that the coercive act would not remain unanswered, and that the people would be Mr. Gladstone's Intimate. That a November session was impossible, but he assured his followers that home rule for Ireland still had the first place on the programme.

Pledges to release the prisoners held on charges of having been instigated by the New Zealand ministers. He trusted that evicted peasants would be reinstated in the autumn. The land before 1873 he said was doubtless of benefit, but the Government's Irish rule on the whole had been a hateful failure. The Irish had to be ruled by force, and even then a firm administration of the law, but they did believe that the law ought to harmonize with the principles of the people.

Therefore, said Mr. Gladstone, he trusted that the coercive act would not remain unanswered, and that the people would be Mr. Gladstone's Intimate. That a November session was impossible, but he assured his followers that home rule for Ireland still had the first place on the programme.

Pledges to release the prisoners held on charges of having been instigated by the New Zealand ministers. He trusted that evicted peasants would be reinstated in the autumn. The land before 1873 he said was doubtless of benefit, but the Government's Irish rule on the whole had been a hateful failure. The Irish had to be ruled by force, and even then a firm administration of the law, but they did believe that the law ought to harmonize with the principles of the people.

Therefore, said Mr. Gladstone, he trusted that the coercive act would not remain unanswered, and that the people would be Mr. Gladstone's Intimate. That a November session was impossible, but he assured his followers that home rule for Ireland still had the first place on the programme.

Pledges to release the prisoners held on charges of having been instigated by the New Zealand ministers. He trusted that evicted peasants would be reinstated in the autumn. The land before 1873 he said was doubtless of benefit, but the Government's Irish rule on the whole had been a hateful failure. The Irish had to be ruled by force, and even then a firm administration of the law, but they did believe that the law ought to harmonize with the principles of the people.

Therefore, said Mr. Gladstone, he trusted that the coercive act would not remain unanswered, and that the people would be Mr. Gladstone's Intimate. That a November session was impossible, but he assured his followers that home rule for Ireland still had the first place on the programme.

Pledges to release the prisoners held on charges of having been instigated by the New Zealand ministers. He trusted that evicted peasants would be reinstated in the autumn. The land before 1873 he said was doubtless of benefit, but the Government's Irish rule on the whole had been a hateful failure. The Irish had to be ruled by force, and even then a firm administration of the law, but they did believe that the law ought to harmonize with the principles of the people.

Therefore, said Mr. Gladstone, he trusted that the coercive act would not remain unanswered, and that the people would be Mr. Gladstone's Intimate. That a November session was impossible, but he assured his followers that home rule for Ireland still had the first place on the programme.

Pledges to release the prisoners held on charges of having been instigated by the New Zealand ministers. He trusted that evicted peasants would be reinstated in the autumn. The land before 1873 he said was doubtless of benefit, but the Government's Irish rule on the whole had been a hateful failure. The Irish had to be ruled by force, and even then a firm administration of the law, but they did believe that the law ought to harmonize with the principles of the people.

Therefore, said Mr. Gladstone, he trusted that the coercive act would not remain unanswered, and that the people would be Mr. Gladstone's Intimate. That a November session was impossible, but he assured his followers that home rule for Ireland still had the first place on the programme.

Pledges to release the prisoners held on charges of having been instigated by the New Zealand ministers. He trusted that evicted peasants would be reinstated in the autumn. The land before 1873 he said was doubtless of benefit, but the Government's Irish rule on the whole had been a hateful failure. The Irish had to be ruled by force, and even then a firm administration of the law, but they did believe that the law ought to harmonize with the principles of the people.

Therefore, said Mr. Gladstone, he trusted that the coercive act would not remain unanswered, and that the people would be Mr. Gladstone's Intimate. That a November session was impossible, but he assured his followers that home rule for Ireland still had the first place on the programme.

Pledges to release the prisoners held on charges of having been instigated by the New Zealand ministers. He trusted that evicted peasants would be reinstated in the autumn. The land before 1873 he said was doubtless of benefit, but the Government's Irish rule on the whole had been a hateful failure. The Irish had to be ruled by force, and even then a firm administration of the law, but they did believe that the law ought to harmonize with the principles of the people.

Therefore, said Mr. Gladstone, he trusted that the coercive act would not remain unanswered, and that the people would be Mr. Gladstone's Intimate. That a November session was impossible, but he assured his followers that home rule for Ireland still had the first place on the programme.

Pledges to release the prisoners held on charges of having been instigated by the New Zealand ministers. He trusted that evicted peasants would be reinstated in the autumn. The land before 1873 he said was doubtless of benefit, but the Government's Irish rule on the whole had been a hateful failure. The Irish had to be ruled by force, and even then a firm administration of the law, but they did believe that the law ought to harmonize with the principles of the people.

Therefore, said Mr. Gladstone, he trusted that the coercive act would not remain unanswered, and that the people would be Mr. Gladstone's Intimate. That a November session was impossible, but he assured his followers that home rule for Ireland still had the first place on the programme.

Pledges to release the prisoners held on charges of having been instigated by the New Zealand ministers. He trusted that evicted peasants would be reinstated in the autumn. The land before 1873 he said was doubtless of benefit, but the Government's Irish rule on the whole had been a hateful failure. The Irish had to be ruled by force, and even then a firm administration of the law, but they did believe that the law ought to harmonize with the principles of the people.

Therefore, said Mr. Gladstone, he trusted that the coercive act would not remain unanswered, and

St. Louis Post-Dispatch,
PUBLISHED BY THE PULITZER PUBLISHING CO.
JOSEPH PULITZER, President.

TERMS OF THE DAILY.
One year, postage paid, every afternoon and
Sunday morning..... $1.00
Six months..... 500
Three months..... 250
By the week (delivered by carrier)..... 15
By the month (delivered by carrier)..... 65
Subscription for one year..... 200
Subscribers who fail to receive their paper regularly will confer a favor upon us by reporting the same to this office by postal card.

All business or news letters or telegrams should be addressed

POST-DISPATCH,
518 Olive st.

POSTAGE.
Entered in the Post-office, St. Louis, Mo., as Second-class matter.

DOMESTIC. For Copy..... 1 Cent
Eight to sixteen pages..... 2 Cents
Eleven to thirty-two pages..... 3 Cents
FOREIGN.
Daily [10 pages]..... 1 Cent
10 to 16 pages..... 2 Cents
17 to 24 pages..... 3 Cents
Sunday [26 to 32 pages]..... 4 Cents

TELEPHONE NUMBERS.
Editorial Room..... 4085
Business Office..... 4084

London Office, 32 Cockspur Street, Charing Cross.
New York Bureau, Room 86, Pulitzer Building, 22d Street, N. Y. Fischer.

THE POST-DISPATCH
Guarantees to Advertisers a Larger Local Circulation than that of Any Other TWO St. Louis-Newspapers Combined.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 9, 1892.

Weather forecast for thirty-six hours, beginning at 8 a. m., for Missouri: Fair; slightly cooler. Wednesday morning: Fairly warm. One general shower has occurred in Western Nebraska and South Dakota and very light scattered showers in Wisconsin and portions of Michigan. Showers may be expected to-day and to-night in Nebraska and portions of Iowa, and scattering showers in Kansas and Missouri to-day and to-night. The temperature has fallen to-day and to-night in the Dakotas and Minnesota, and will fall to-day and to-night in Iowa, Kansas and Missouri, although the relief will probably be but slight and temporary.

Weather forecast for thirty-six hours, beginning at 8 a. m., to-day, for St. Louis: Generally fair; cooler.

THE ESCAPES AT THE POOR-HOUSE ought not to be limited to the patients.

There is a suggestion for the voter in the Mayor's war cry: "Let me get at him."

Supt. PORTER's devotion to Republican wine suggests a reason for his not being right in his census.

A BASE BALL player has been nominated for Congress by the Pittsburgh Prohibitionists. He is expected to make a home run.

THE Liberals will find difficulty in amending the Queen's speech; that is to say, they can hardly change the meaning of nothing.

MINISTER EGAN has done one thing at least which saves his diplomatic career from utter failure. He announces his determination to end it.

AS THE Congressional Jag Committee would put it the Harrison administration has not been drunk, but merely under the influence of "Republican wine."

THE anxiety of Republican organs over the attitude of the Hill men towards the Democratic party is entirely unnecessary. They are all Democrats who make a specialty of regularity.

THE Homestead strikers voted steadily for legislation which enabled their employers to pay higher wages. They ought to know that wages are fixed not by the ability but the necessities of employers.

WORK on the Carnegie library for the benefit of workingmen is progressing and so is the work on the Carnegie attempt to cut down the wages of workingmen for his benefit. Want has forced a large number to return to the Duquesne mills on Frick's terms.

INDIAN OR JUDEAN.
An old question on which people are still free to take opposite sides is raised by the following note to the editor of the Post-Dispatch:

You close your article upon Andrew Carnegie's lost opportunity with the quotation: Like the base Indian, threw a pearl away.

Is your quotation correct? I mean, should it not read, "base Judean" instead of "base Indian"? I have not at the present moment the means of verification beside me, but if I am not much mistaken, the best Shakespearean commentators prefer "base Judean" to "base Indian," for the excellent reason that while the use of the "base Indian" conveys no easily intelligible meaning, the use of "the base Judean" with its obvious reference to Judas and his betrayal of Jesus Christ, embodies a reference which can easily be understood by the public, for whom the author of "The Merchant of Venice" studiously wrote. I am sure that Henry Irving, Edwin Booth and other great actors used "the base Judean" in preference to the obvious misprint, "the base Indian."

THE best of the authorities that "Judean" assume that the allusion is to Herod, who, in a fit of blind jealousy, threw away such a jewel of a wife as Mariamne was to him. The supposition that the allusion was to Judas Iscariot is referred to in the notes to Charles Knight's edition, the most approved English text, as merely an instance of "how far conjecture may be carried." Richard Grant White's American follows Coleridge and Charles Knight in preferring "Indian," and for reasons that fully answer the objections of our correspondent. The best of the authorities that "Judean" assume that the allusion is to Herod, who, in a fit of blind jealousy, threw away such a jewel of a wife as Mariamne was to him. The supposition that the allusion was to Judas Iscariot is referred to in the notes to Charles Knight's edition, the most approved English text, as merely an instance of "how far conjecture may be carried." Richard Grant White's American follows Coleridge and Charles Knight in preferring "Indian," and for reasons that fully answer the objections of our correspondent.

MR. HOLMAN says that "it will be a matter of exceeding difficulty for the supporters of the Fifty-first Congress to bring the appropriations below the billion dollar limit." That is, the Reed mob fastened an extravagant policy upon the country which it cannot by any means get rid of. The evil that men do survives to torment their innocent descendants.

LIEUT.-COL. STREATOR has been re-elected by the officers of the Tenth regiment of the Pennsylvania National Guards. This was not unexpected because Pennsylvanians seems to be given over to their idols and are as submissive as the most tyrannical master could wish. The inhabitants of that State have conspired in favor of a policy designed to assist them in accumulating the earnings of other States. The policy has been successful, but in distributing the plunder the equities have not been observed. Notwithstanding this fact the people who get left do not manifest any serious desire to dissolve the conspiracy. They seem to be hopelessly unteachable.

THE SUICIDE OF JUDGE NORMILE

The suicide of Judge Normile and his own explanation of it will throw a new light on what his friends would have regarded as insignificant weaknesses or eccentricities in his speech and conduct.

The support which the Post-Dispatch gave Judge Normile as a candidate for the preceding term was tinged, perhaps, too much by the personal kindness felt towards him by the proprietor of the paper and every member of its editorial staff. The withdrawal of that support when he was a candidate the last time was but a reluctant recognition of the vicious economic policy which has prevailed for thirty years. Through force of habit they have voted the Republican ticket, giving small consideration to the real issues involved. The discontent now prevailing is the best guarantee of a salutary change, for discontent is always preliminary to practical thinking. The farmers are ready to consider political questions like rational men rather than as partisans. They are in a receptive mood, and it is among such men that the most effective political work can be done.

THE rapid spread of cholera is well calculated to arouse alarm in America, where it will probably appear next year and may seriously impair the success of the World's Fair. In Russia, however, where the disease seems to be more than usually severe, the conditions are such as to invite fatal results, which can be avoided only by the strictest attention to the laws of health. It is more than ever necessary to look after the sanitary condition of all large cities, particularly of Chicago. It is a matter of national concern. Nothing short of the most vigorous and thorough sanitary measures taken by the authorities of that city will satisfy the country.

THE ONLY REMEDY.

Whether the charge that the House of Delegates' investigation of the Poor-house was prompted by personal and political motives of certain members is true or false does not affect the results obtained. They stand for themselves as evidence that the greasy hand of the "push" combine has been laid upon that institution. It was clearly brought out from the reluctant witnesses before the special committee that assessments were levied upon the salary of Clerk Bourdon by Supt. Gallagher, that queer methods obtained in the matter of appointments and that the management of the institution was improper.

These results, however, plainly suggested others of deeper import as to the character of the city administration and the ease with which the investigation was choked off the trail gives color to the charge that the House of Delegates was not anxious to bring out the whole truth. It has now practically abandoned the whole matter to the Charity Commissioners, whose first efforts to uncover the scandal do not promise satisfactory results.

Every effort to expose and punish rascality in municipal affairs is hampered and checkmated by "push" power and influence and the impossibility of purging the city administration of inefficiency and corruption as long as it is in control of the powerful political ring now running things with a high hand has been demonstrated. The only relief for the city lies in a clean sweep at the polls.

INDIAN OR JUDEAN.

From the Philadelphia Record.

The material results of the session will not be of much interest to the country for the simple reason that Republican legislation of the Billion Dollar Congress, a Republican Senate and a Republican President have prevented the Democratic House from carrying out the reforms desired by the people.

THE assault upon non-union workers at Duquesne was led by two aliens who had not been in this country more than six months. This is dwelt upon with much satisfaction by the organs of privilege as a proof of the viciousness of the strikers. To plain people of common sense it seems to be a proof of the viciousness of the Carnegie and Fricks who import foreign workmen because they are cheap.

RESULTS OF THE SESSION.

From the New York World.

The material results of the session will not be of much interest to the country for the simple reason that Republican legislation of the Billion Dollar Congress, a Republican Senate and a Republican President have prevented the Democratic House from carrying out the reforms desired by the people.

THE Liberals will find difficulty in amending the Queen's speech; that is to say, they can hardly change the meaning of nothing.

MINISTER EGAN has done one thing at least which saves his diplomatic career from utter failure. He announces his determination to end it.

AS THE Congressional Jag Committee would put it the Harrison administration has not been drunk, but merely under the influence of "Republican wine."

THE anxiety of Republican organs over the attitude of the Hill men towards the Democratic party is entirely unnecessary. They are all Democrats who make a specialty of regularity.

THE Homestead strikers voted steadily for legislation which enabled their employers to pay higher wages. They ought to know that wages are fixed not by the ability but the necessities of employers.

WORK on the Carnegie library for the benefit of workingmen is progressing and so is the work on the Carnegie attempt to cut down the wages of workingmen for his benefit. Want has forced a large number to return to the Duquesne mills on Frick's terms.

INDIAN OR JUDEAN.

From the Philadelphia Record.

The House Committee on Agriculture, in its report on the effect of the tariff, says that for the low price of wheat in the United States, wheat, which is not known. The wheat was built about five years ago, and was owned by a stock company. The loss is estimated at about $60,000.

OBJECT LESSON IN PROTECTION.

As an object lesson in Protection versus Free Trade, Lloyd's return of shipbuilding in the United Kingdom for the past quarter is instructive. The gross tonnage of ships under construction, excluding war ships, was 77,462, including 165,183 tons for the colonies and foreign States. In France, where heavy premiums are paid to foster the shipbuilding industry, the tonnage was 18,166; in Germany, 48,556, and in the United States, 14,310. So much for bounties as against free trade.

MEN OF MARK.

CALVIN S. BRICKS pays Mr. Whitney $8,000 a year for the rent of his Newport cottage.

COUNT CASSIRY's eyesight is failing, the cause being a cataract. He is now in home treatment for it.

CONGRESSMAN HOLMAN is a very popular man with the ladies. He wouldn't be so if he objected to their little bills as persistently as he does to those in the House.

A MR. HAINES of Quincy, Minn., has been asleep for the last seventeen years, with the exception of eighteen months in 1881-1882, two months in 1889 and two weeks in July, 1892.

"DICK" CROKER, the Tammany chieftain, was the engineer of the first steam fire engine used in New York. And he has been working at a political high pressure gauge ever since.

THE oldest practicing lawyer in the country is Robert H. Folger, a Pennsylvania man, now living in Massillon, O. Mr. Folger was supposed to be far more abundant in India than anywhere else in the world. Othello's expression is very similar to the lines in Sir Edward Howard's "Woman's Conquest."

Behold my Queen,
Who with no more concern I cast away
Than Indians do a pearl that ne're did know Its value.

"Indian" suits and "Judean" spoils the rhythm of the line. Shakespeare would have been much more likely to apply the word "base" to a rude, ignorant Indian than to King Herod, and the word "tribe" in that connection means nothing more than race or kindred.

THE Democratic campaign managers are going earnestly to work in the Northwest, with good prospect of success. This year the contest is one of principle, not of spoils, and an appeal is to be made to thinking men in all parts of the country. The farmers of the West and Northwest have every incentive to think because they are suffering most severely from the vicious economic policy which has prevailed for thirty years. Through force of habit they have voted the Republican ticket, giving small consideration to the real issues involved. The discontent now prevailing is the best guarantee of a salutary change, for discontent is always preliminary to practical thinking. The farmers are ready to consider political questions like rational men rather than as partisans. They are in a receptive mood, and it is among such men that the most effective political work can be done.

THE Democratic campaign managers are going earnestly to work in the Northwest, with good prospect of success. This year the contest is one of principle, not of spoils, and an appeal is to be made to thinking men in all parts of the country. The farmers of the West and Northwest have every incentive to think because they are suffering most severely from the vicious economic policy which has prevailed for thirty years. Through force of habit they have voted the Republican ticket, giving small consideration to the real issues involved. The discontent now prevailing is the best guarantee of a salutary change, for discontent is always preliminary to practical thinking. The farmers are ready to consider political questions like rational men rather than as partisans. They are in a receptive mood, and it is among such men that the most effective political work can be done.

THE Democratic campaign managers are going earnestly to work in the Northwest, with good prospect of success. This year the contest is one of principle, not of spoils, and an appeal is to be made to thinking men in all parts of the country. The farmers of the West and Northwest have every incentive to think because they are suffering most severely from the vicious economic policy which has prevailed for thirty years. Through force of habit they have voted the Republican ticket, giving small consideration to the real issues involved. The discontent now prevailing is the best guarantee of a salutary change, for discontent is always preliminary to practical thinking. The farmers are ready to consider political questions like rational men rather than as partisans. They are in a receptive mood, and it is among such men that the most effective political work can be done.

THE Democratic campaign managers are going earnestly to work in the Northwest, with good prospect of success. This year the contest is one of principle, not of spoils, and an appeal is to be made to thinking men in all parts of the country. The farmers of the West and Northwest have every incentive to think because they are suffering most severely from the vicious economic policy which has prevailed for thirty years. Through force of habit they have voted the Republican ticket, giving small consideration to the real issues involved. The discontent now prevailing is the best guarantee of a salutary change, for discontent is always preliminary to practical thinking. The farmers are ready to consider political questions like rational men rather than as partisans. They are in a receptive mood, and it is among such men that the most effective political work can be done.

THE Democratic campaign managers are going earnestly to work in the Northwest, with good prospect of success. This year the contest is one of principle, not of spoils, and an appeal is to be made to thinking men in all parts of the country. The farmers of the West and Northwest have every incentive to think because they are suffering most severely from the vicious economic policy which has prevailed for thirty years. Through force of habit they have voted the Republican ticket, giving small consideration to the real issues involved. The discontent now prevailing is the best guarantee of a salutary change, for discontent is always preliminary to practical thinking. The farmers are ready to consider political questions like rational men rather than as partisans. They are in a receptive mood, and it is among such men that the most effective political work can be done.

THE Democratic campaign managers are going earnestly to work in the Northwest, with good prospect of success. This year the contest is one of principle, not of spoils, and an appeal is to be made to thinking men in all parts of the country. The farmers of the West and Northwest have every incentive to think because they are suffering most severely from the vicious economic policy which has prevailed for thirty years. Through force of habit they have voted the Republican ticket, giving small consideration to the real issues involved. The discontent now prevailing is the best guarantee of a salutary change, for discontent is always preliminary to practical thinking. The farmers are ready to consider political questions like rational men rather than as partisans. They are in a receptive mood, and it is among such men that the most effective political work can be done.

THE Democratic campaign managers are going earnestly to work in the Northwest, with good prospect of success. This year the contest is one of principle, not of spoils, and an appeal is to be made to thinking men in all parts of the country. The farmers of the West and Northwest have every incentive to think because they are suffering most severely from the vicious economic policy which has prevailed for thirty years. Through force of habit they have voted the Republican ticket, giving small consideration to the real issues involved. The discontent now prevailing is the best guarantee of a salutary change, for discontent is always preliminary to practical thinking. The farmers are ready to consider political questions like rational men rather than as partisans. They are in a receptive mood, and it is among such men that the most effective political work can be done.

THE Democratic campaign managers are going earnestly to work in the Northwest, with good prospect of success. This year the contest is one of principle, not of spoils, and an appeal is to be made to thinking men in all parts of the country. The farmers of the West and Northwest have every incentive to think because they are suffering most severely from the vicious economic policy which has prevailed for thirty years. Through force of habit they have voted the Republican ticket, giving small consideration to the real issues involved. The discontent now prevailing is the best guarantee of a salutary change, for discontent is always preliminary to practical thinking. The farmers are ready to consider political questions like rational men rather than as partisans. They are in a receptive mood, and it is among such men that the most effective political work can be done.

THE Democratic campaign managers are going earnestly to work in the Northwest, with good prospect of success. This year the contest is one of principle, not of spoils, and an appeal is to be made to thinking men in all parts of the country. The farmers of the West and Northwest have every incentive to think because they are suffering most severely from the vicious economic policy which has prevailed for thirty years. Through force of habit they have voted the Republican ticket, giving small consideration to the real issues involved. The discontent now prevailing is the best guarantee of a salutary change, for discontent is always preliminary to practical thinking. The farmers are ready to consider political questions like rational men rather than as partisans. They are in a receptive mood, and it is among such men that the most effective political work can be done.

THE Democratic campaign managers are going earnestly to work in the Northwest, with good prospect of success. This year the contest is one of principle, not of spoils, and an appeal is to be made to thinking men in all parts of the country. The farmers of the West and Northwest have every incentive to think because they are suffering most severely from the vicious economic policy which has prevailed for thirty years. Through force of habit they have voted the Republican ticket, giving small consideration to the real issues involved. The discontent now prevailing is the best guarantee of a salutary change, for discontent is always preliminary to practical thinking. The farmers are ready to consider political questions like rational men rather than as partisans. They are in a receptive mood, and it is among such men that the most effective political work can be done.

THE Democratic campaign managers are going earnestly to work in the Northwest, with good prospect of success. This year the contest is one of principle, not of spoils, and an appeal is to be made to thinking men in all parts of the country. The farmers of the West and Northwest have every incentive to think because they are suffering most severely from the vicious economic policy which has prevailed for thirty years. Through force of habit they have voted the Republican ticket, giving small consideration to the real issues involved. The discontent now prevailing is the best guarantee of a salutary change, for discontent is always preliminary to practical thinking. The farmers are ready to consider political questions like rational men rather than as partisans. They are in a receptive mood, and it is among such men that the most effective political work can be done.

THE Democratic campaign managers are going earnestly to work in the Northwest, with good prospect of success. This year the contest is one of principle, not of spoils, and an appeal is to be made to thinking men in all parts of the country. The farmers of the West and Northwest have every incentive to think because they are suffering most severely from the vicious economic policy which has prevailed for thirty years. Through force of habit they have voted the Republican ticket, giving small consideration to the real issues involved. The discontent now prevailing is the best guarantee of a salutary change, for discontent is always preliminary to practical thinking. The farmers are ready to consider political questions like rational men rather than as partisans. They are in a receptive mood, and it is among such men that the most effective political work can be done.

THE Democratic campaign managers are going earnestly to work in the Northwest, with good prospect of success. This year the contest is one of principle, not of spoils, and an appeal is to be made to thinking men in all parts of the country. The farmers of the West and Northwest have every incentive to think because they are suffering most severely from the vicious economic policy which has prevailed for thirty years. Through force of habit they have voted the Republican ticket, giving small consideration to the real issues involved

LODGE NOTICES.

GEORGE WASHINGTON LODGE, No. 9, A. F. & A. M., will hold a regular meeting at Free Masons' Hall, corner 7th and Market st., this (Tuesday) evening, at 8 o'clock. All are welcome, and visitors illustrated by stereopticon views. Visitors are always welcome, and refreshments served. P. J. HEUER, Secretary.

AMON LODGE, No. 28, K. of P. Regular meeting Wednesday evening, Aug. 14, at 8 o'clock. All Knights cordially invited. ELIAS H. WILSON, O. C. ALTON, CHAS. J. VERNON, E. R. CO., 33.

WOODMEN OF THE WORLD—MERCANTILE WOODMEN, No. 14, meets to-night. No assessment for August. THOMAS WHITEHILL, C. S. GREENWELL, Chieftain.

SITUATIONS WANTED—MALE.

Clerks and Salesmen. WANTED—By traveling man small side line on commission; territory South and Southwest; state line. Address G. 335, this office. 37.

WANTED—A young man 21 years old, in wholesale dry goods house; can give best of ref. Address H. 338, this office. 37.

The Trades.

WANTED—A situation floor man, house-shoer; 3 years' experience. Call or add. 1559 S. Broadway. 38.

Boys.

WANTED—Boy of 14 wants situation of any kind; messenger preferred. Add. 208 Bidleman. 42.

WANTED—A situation by boy 15 years old, in office or store; speaks German and English. Add. F. 337, this office. 42.

Miscellaneous.

WANTED—Situation by an Englishman to do anything. 1302 St. Ange av. 43.

WANTED—By a sober young man, situation working in saloon or store. Address J. Mc. 1319 24th. 43.

WANTED—Situation in suburbs; good hand to care for house, lawn, gardener, etc. Add. 6 338, this office. 43.

WANTED—A situation to learn the shoe business, by a young man who knows a little about book-keeping. Add. N. 338, this office. 43.

WANTED—Situation by young man to take care of horses and lawn, and make himself generally useful. Address W. 337, this office. 43.

WANTED—By a young lady, a position in a good house; not so particular about the money as the house. Miss A. Wilson, 2953 Olive. 43.

HELP WANTED—MALE.

Book-keepers.

BRYANT & SHATTEN. BUSINESS SHORTHAND AND TELEGRAPH SCHOOL, Cornhill Building, and Bryant & Shatten, Open during the entire year without vacation. This is the largest, best equipped and most successful school in the country. A complete course of instruction is given in the commercial studies and shorthand and telegraphy. Graduates are successful in obtaining positions in all parts of the country. Address Dr. W. M. Carpenter, Principal.

Clerks and Salesmen.

WANTED—A small hardware store; must speak German. 3645 S. Broadway. 53.

WANTED—Young man 18 to 20 years, to assist in WANTED—To try our 4 shoes; judge their value. 1517 Olive st.; good girls wanted for other situations. 658.

FREE TREATMENT FOR ALL DISEASES.

Small charge for medicine only; 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. daily and Sunday; consultation private. Address Dr. J. W. H. H. 1528 Franklin av. 68.

WANTED—A good seamstress; good wages. 1528 Franklin av. 68.

WANTED—Traveling man; also city man for carpentry; satisfaction guaranteed. Add. Scientific Water, 1528 Franklin av. 68.

WANTED—A good salesman, a hustler, to sell all kinds of superior carbonated beverages from stock and salary and commission. Eclipse Carbonic Co. 68.

WANTED—Salesmen on salary or commission to handle the new patent chemical ink erasing pencil; the greatest saving in time and labor. In two seconds, no abrasion of paper; 200 to 500 per cent profit; one hour's work; we want one energetic general agent for each State and Territory. For terms and particulars see the Eraser Manufacturing Co. 15, La Crosse, Wis. 64.

PERKINS & HERPEL'S COLLEGE, Cor. 4th and Washington av. Phone 1207. Individual instruction in shorthand, Typewriting, Book-keeping, Penmanship, etc. 64.

HAYWARD'S SHORTHAND AND BUSINESS COLLEGE; summer school, 702, 704 and 706 Olive st., Waiters.

WANTED—A young man as waiter; reference, 1528 Franklin av. 57.

The Trades.

WANTED—A young baker; day work, 3130 Eastern av. 58.

WANTED—A good man to drive team, 5429 N. Broadway. 58.

WANTED—Young man to cap and solder cans. 58.

WANTED—Job press feeders. Merry & Nicholson, Main and Locust st.

WANTED—2 good finishers on architectural iron-work. 423 S. 6th st. 58.

WANTED—Salesmen from workers' doors, tanks, etc. 423 S. 6th st. 58.

WANTED—Two good general workmen in marble works. J. M. Scanlon, Farmington, Mo. 58.

WANTED—Blacksmith and railing-makers. Appliance and hardware works, etc. 58.

WANTED—Competent seamstress; good knowledge of millwright, also engineer. C. F. Lube, N. 26th and Buchanan av. 58.

WANTED—Twenty-five cabinetmakers; will pay good wages. 1528 Franklin av. 58.

WANTED—Good dinner to go to a large country town; ready to pay good wages. 1528 Franklin av. 58.

WANTED—One first-class roller and machine man; one first-class cracker baker; steady work. Address the Doctor, Cracker Co. Declar. 58.

WANTED—200 car-builders, carpenters and laborers at Madison Car Works, Madison, Ill. Take good reference. Train from Main to Bremen av. 6:35 a. m. 58.

Laborers.

WANTED—Laborers. Apply at 2800 DeKalb st. 59.

WANTED—25 laborers. Apply at Lacled Hotel, Cox's place, Cheltenham.

WANTED—3 teamsters and dumper. Call at 4475 Beck av. P. E. Donovan, contractor. 59.

WANTED—50 teams for 55¢ per load and 30 men at $2 per day on 12th and Olive st. John O'Donnell & Bro. 59.

WANTED—Twenty-six teams, macaroni boxes, 20th and Chestnut st. The Barber Asphalt Paving Co. 59.

WANTED—15 to 20 teamsters; 30 men, $2 per day; pay extra for teamster, 40 teams, $2 extra per load. The Toll Mullen. 59.

Moms.

WANTED—Bell boy. Hurst Hotel. 61.

WANTED—Six good strong boys. Apply at 2801 Krocus st. 61.

WANTED—A smart boy to clean office. Apply 1001 Olive av. 61.

WANTED—A boy, with saloon experience, 1528 Lucas av. 61.

WANTED—A good white boy in a barber shop. 4118 Easton av. 61.

WANTED—A boy, from 14 to 16 years old, to work about 15 hours a day. 1716 Franklin av. 61.

WANTED—Boy about 15 to learn stenography, and for 40 teams. St. Louis Wire Brush Co. 903 Collins st. 61.

WANTED—To work in bakery; one with experience preferred. 1716 Franklin av. 61.

WANTED—Boy to learn plating business, not over 15 years old. Apply at 1528 Franklin av. 61.

WANTED—A good strong boy who understands painting. Apply at St. Louis Baking Works, 107 S. 7th st. 61.

Miscellaneous.

WANTED—Man to work in kitchen. Beaumont Flat, 2603 Olive av. 62.

WANTED—Porter (white or colored) to clean up, scrub up, etc. Apply at 1528 Franklin av. 62.

WANTED—A man to drive a mangle wagon and to make himself generally useful in a home. L. N. Orton, 4556 Kenmar av. 62.

$3.00 up. Apply to Mrs. Morris, Talbot Co., 219 N. 8th, near Olive st., 2d floor. 62.

SITUATIONS WANTED—FEMALE.

Housekeepers. WANTED—By widow with child, situation housekeeper for widow or bachelor. Add. dress R. 337, this office. 47.

WANTED—Sit as housekeeper for widow or bachelor; where interview can be had. Address O. 337, this office. 47.

SITUATIONS WANTED—FEMALE.

General Housework.

WANTED—Situation by a girl to do housework and nursing; good reference. 819 N. 23d st. 48.

WANTED—Situation to do general housework; no washing or ironing. M. S. 1230 Biddle av. 48.

STOVE REPAIRS.

Casting and repair for stoves and ranges of every description. A. G. Brauer, 219 Locust st. 49.

Cooks, Etc.

WANTED—Sit as cook. Address O. 337, this office. 49.

WANTED—Sit as cook; can cook or manage. Address O. 337, this office. 49.

WANTED—Situation as cook; no washing; in an apartment. 1234 N. 8th st. 49.

WANTED—2 girls want situations, 1 a French cook and house girl, in private family. 1120 Cass av. 49.

Laundresses.

WANTED—Washing to do at home or go out. 1306 Wash. in the rear. 50.

Nurses.

WANTED—A situation as nurse. 1234 N. 14th st. 50.

Teachers, Companions, Etc.

WANTED—Experienced teacher, desire good reference. Address F. 337, this office. 50.

HELP WANTED—FEMALE.

Cooks, Etc.

WANTED—A good cook; call immediately. 1623 Washington av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook, willing to help with washing, ironing, etc. 1528 Franklin av. 68.

WANTED—Cook; private boarding-house; white or colored. 1626 Lucas pl. 68.

WANTED—A good German girl who understands cooking; must assist in washing and ironing. Call in the morning between 10 and 12 at 1842 Kenner st. 68.

WANTED—An experienced cook for 100. 1515 Olive st. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A girl to cook and do housework; no feathers or ironing; ref. rec'd. 4160 Chouteau av. 68.

WANTED—Two first-class barbers; must be good shavers and hair-cutters; permanent situations. 1515 Olive st. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

WANTED—A good cook; wash and iron; good wages; 3 in family. 4026 Delmar av. 68.

